The sense of Earth

DIRECTED BY Simone Massi & Alessandro Ingaria

2024

Abisso Studio (Italy)

Animation / Fiction - Short Film - Drama

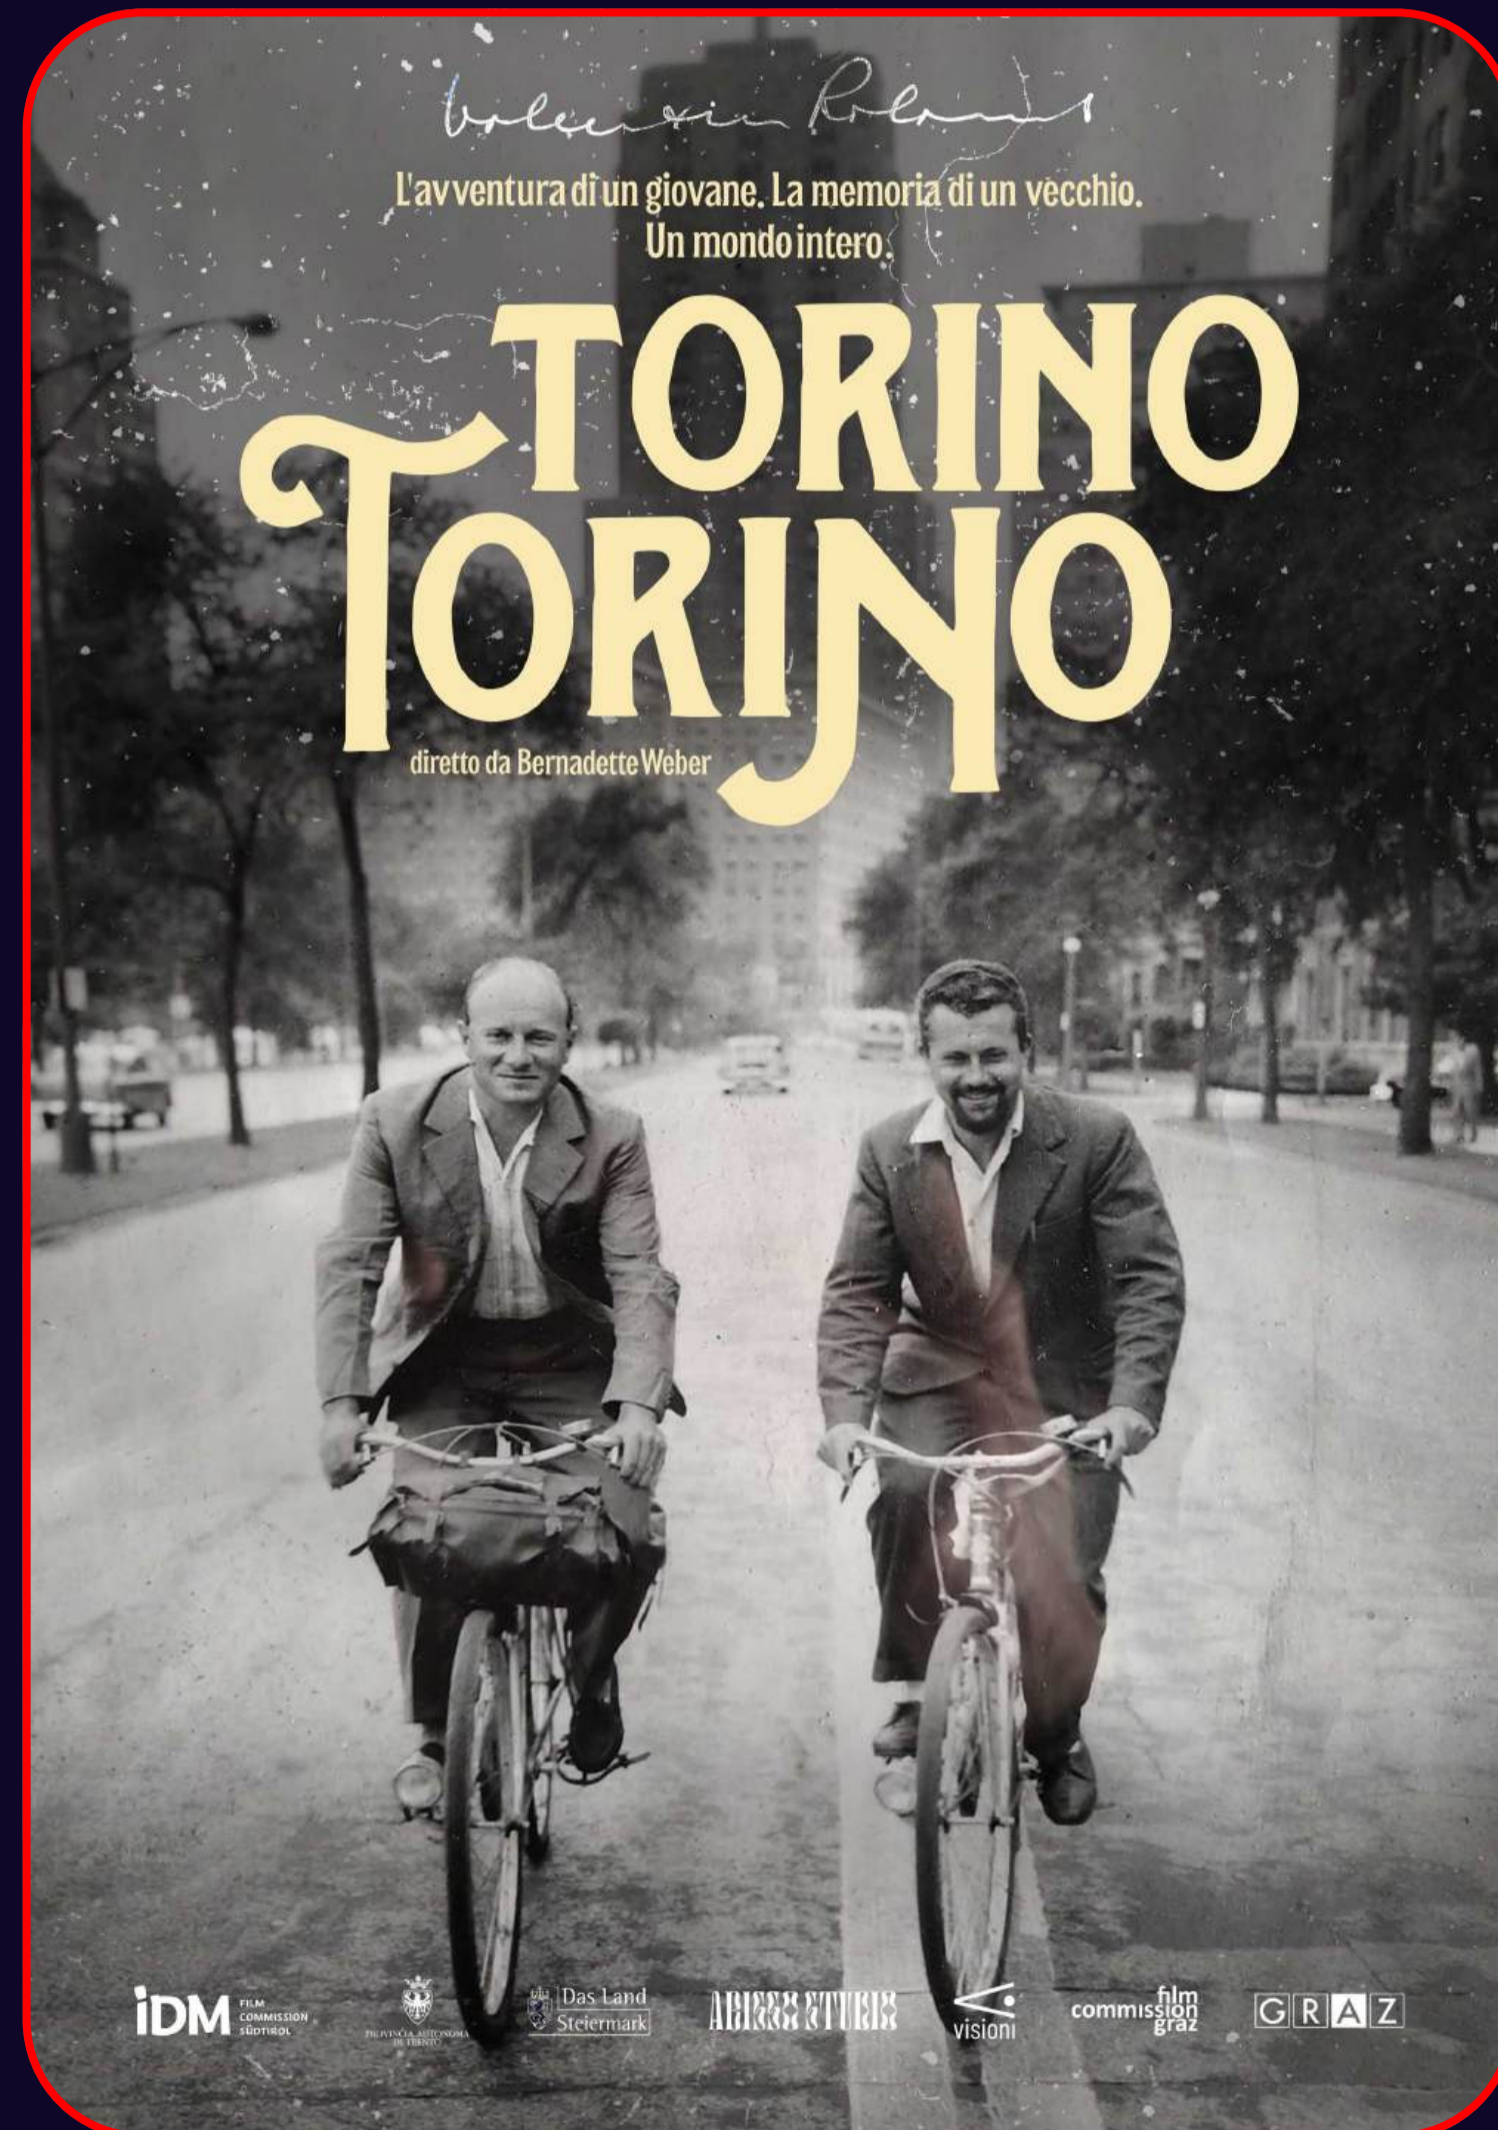

12'

A woman determined to defend the right to memory of the last, the outcast. A lifeless body in which a potential substance of abuse is found. Black-and-white animation that leads, poetically, into the world left behind by the dead boy. "The Sense of the Earth" is a journey through the contradictions and ghosts of contemporary European society and a reminder of the importance of memory as a foundational element in the evolution of human civilization.

The story of Giovanni Battista Panizza: priest, politician and social leader of Trentino in the early 20th century, who dedicated his entire life to the development and success of the cooperative model. Although he fought and defended the interests of his people in every way, he was forgotten and condemned to the oblivion of history. First by the Church and then by fascism.

It is the end of World War I. Somewhere in the mountains of Northern Italy, a platoon of the British Army is enjoying the thought of their imminent return home. Despite the hope, the soldiers' reactions seem to be different and, at times, unexpected. Brian and Sam seem to have had two opposite experiences during their interminable years in the army. They have just met, but a strong invisible bond leads them to a deeper understanding of their own humanity.

Green Film

Climate change is happening. Now.

The film and advertising industries are organizing to decrease this process.

Various environmental certifications have been created that attest to the sustainability of a film or video.

Our consulting service is concerned with helping and guiding producers and brands in making the best choices to reduce CO2 emissions as much as possible and obtain "green" certification on audiovisual productions.
